Forecast For London & Southeast England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Thursday 03 Jun 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Warm or very warm, thundery rain possible overnight and Friday.

This Evening and Tonight:
A warm and humid night. Partly cloudy skies with some clear spells this evening. Becoming generally cloudy, with heavy thundery showers possibly arriving from the near continent during the early hours. Minimum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Friday:
Cloudy on Friday, with outbreaks of thundery rain possible, especially for eastern areas. Cooler than previous days, especially in the west, but still feeling humid. Maximum temperature 21 deg C (70 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
Largely fine, dry and warm through this period with sunny spells. However isolated showers are possible on Sunday and Monday. Some coastal fog possible, especially on Saturday and Sunday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.